Wedge

Designed To Off-Load Heels

frontiermedical[®]
group

Repose Wedge is designed to completely off-load heels for either pressure damage prevention or as part of the management of heel ulcers. It is suitable for patients:

- Assessed as being up to very high risk of developing heel pressure damage and /or with up to Category 4 pressure ulcer
- Who are confused and may not be able to remove other off-loading devices when moving off the bed
- Who are restless and therefore may not tolerate other forms of heel protection or kick them off
- With wider calves or suffer from foot drop making regular foot protector boots unsuitable
- On their sides or tilted and where there may be the possibility of pressure damage from an inflation value

Repose Wedge can be loosely covered with a sheet to aid patient comfort
