SKIN INTEGRITY PRODUCTS

Ensuring Comfort and Care

A skin tear is a traumatic wound occurring principally on the extremities of elderly persons, as a result of shearing and friction forces which separate the top layer of skin from the underlying structures, and is the second most common injury occurring in the aged resident.

As people age, their skin changes and becomes less resilient and prone to damage from knocks and bumps sustained in everyday living, but added risk factors for those that are independently ambulant or reliant on the use of equipment include advancing age, an altered sensory status, a history of a previous tear, the presence of ecchymosis, poor nutrition and dementia.

Based on the policy that prevention is better than cure, MacMed Healthcare has introduced the MacMed Skin Protecta®, a moisture transporting anti-friction tube with a wrinkle-free fit for arms and legs.

This product has exceptional moisture transport properties and will help maintain skin integrity in the elderly and those suffering compromising skin conditions.

- Anti friction
- Soft and light
- Effective temperature control

CoolMax® is a highly technical cushion loop construction which is soft and light and helps to reduce heat build up and excessive moisture.
